FATAL ACCIDENT IN ELEVATOR

A telephone message from the Coroner in Columbus Monday to Mayor Wolford brought the news of the sudden death of Roy McFarland, due to an accident in an elevator in the Busy Bee Candy Kitchen in that city.

Mayor Wolford immediately regretted the unfortunate young man's death, Mr. D. H. McFarland. The ten o'clock express was stopped and Raymond McFarland, a brother and G. A. Shroads went to Columbus to care for the body.

There is no positive theory advanced as to just how the young man met his death. There was no eye witness to the horrible affair but a young man was nearby and had been talking to McFarland just as he was going up. One story is that Roy had started the elevator and jumped on it while in motion and in doing so was caught between the floor and the lift. Another theory is that while talking to a companion his head was projected too far and was struck by a beam supporting the upper floor. In either case it is evident that his skull was crushed by the blow. His body fell from the carriage back into the elevator shaft a distance of thirty feet.

By this time his companion had noticed an unusual noise and upon making an investigation found McFarland's body in a sitting posture in one corner of the shaft. Aid was summoned but his life slowly ebbed away without ever regaining consciousness. Beside the crushed skull there was only one other bruise on the body, that over the eye. The body was brought home Monday evening.

The deceased was the son of ex-Mayor D. H. McFarland and was one of the most popular young men about town. He was of a kind, sunny and jovial disposition and was a look-alike upon the bright side of life. He is survived by father, an invalid mother, three brothers, B. E. Raymond, Arthur, and two sisters, Miss Merle at home and Miss Latha of Dayton.

His death was a great shock to the community. He had much to do with the success of his motion picture on the road. He had just returned from the Busy Bee concern about two weeks ago and worked there to earn enough to support himself while studying the art of cartooning, of which he had a natural talent. Hardly had the mother received the news of Roy's intention to be home for Thanksgiving until a later report announced his untimely death and sorrow and gloom dispelled the plans of a happy family reunion.

The last rites of all that was mortal took place Tuesday afternoon from the M. E. church where sorrowing friends and acquaintances gathered. The church was crowded to the doors.

The prizes amount to about $3,000 including 20 scholarships of $20 each in leading agricultural colleges over the country.

THEATRE NOTES.

The comedy scenes between Francis Wilson and Baby Davis in Mr. Wilson's new play, "The Bachelor's Baby," a comedy farce of which he is himself the author, are reported to be nothing short of delicious. In the new play, Mr. Wilson has the role of a crusty young bachelor who is left the guardian of his their influence, writes more brilliantly than ever. The play depicts the struggle of the writer to overcome the hold the drugs have over her and those who have seen Mrs. Carter will realize how well this part will suit her capabilities. One critic writes of her as follows: "Splendid, brilliant, dynamic, with a voice of rare clearness and power, with a carriage and gesture impressive, and with tone and glance and action tremendously convincing."

Theodore Roberts in "The Barrier" will be the attraction at the Fairbanks Theatre, Tuesday, November 30th. The title refers to the racial prejudice which stands between the love of a girl who is supposed to be a half breed and an army officer. The girl's father, through adoption, is a kind of untutored woodsman Hamlet. The woman he loved had been killed by her husband, whom he hated; he had found her dead and had taken away his child, fleeing into the wilderness charged with a murder of which he could not prove himself innocent. When the girl had grown up, believing herself to be the daughter of a squaw man, the evil father crosses the trail of the exiles. Then the story of hate against hate begins, and never ends until the killer gives up the ghost.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, who comes to the Fairbanks Theatre, Thursday, December 2nd needs no introduction to the theatre goers of this section. Her appearances here have drawn about her a circle of admirers both in and out of Springfield. This year she will present a new play, "Vivian's Heart" which is said to differ greatly in theme from the type of plays which she has heretofore presented. The character is that of a talented woman who becomes addicted to drugs, and under Attack Of Blood Poison.

Mr. Warren Arthur, who is employed on the Pennsylvania Lines as a brakeman, recently received a nail cut on his wrist. The injury soon healed and little attention was paid to it. Last week something like blood poison set in and Mr. Arthur was in a very serious condition at his boarding house in Xenia for several days. He is greatly improved at this time and is thought that there is no more danger.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Charles Hopping Seattle.

"I'm tired of going to sell motor cars in opposition to the Cadillac," is the rather strong way in which Charles A. Hopping, lately arrived from Dayton, introduced himself at the garage of E. Pike-st of the M. B. Brown Motor Car Co. and struck Mr. Pike-st as a salesman this morning for a job as salesman in town for the Cadillac Car at present.

Hopping came to Seattle a little over a month ago and is recommended from men in the trade in the East. He is a difficult job to get a job with a car, but he was a workman for a car that he quit and went over to the house of Cadillac.

Hopping has five years' experience in the trade in Ohio and though in this city he is a newcomer, he is already well liked. Clipping from Seattle paper.

Heavy Damage By Storm

A terrific wind storm visited this section Monday afternoon that caused considerable damage to corn crops, farm property and telephone and traction lines.

Over the county a number of fields of fodder were completely damaged by being blown into neighboring field and along the railroads.

The D. & X. Traction Company suffered heavy damage in that a half mile of trolley poles were laid low. The telephone companies met the same fate. At Yellow Springs a barn and wind-mill were damaged by blowing to Frank Hughes.

The large smoke-stack of the Xenia Ice and Cold Storage Co. was blown down within twenty feet of the bottom.

During the storm considerable damage befell the H. M. Murdoch barn but repairs can easily be made.

Robert Arthur Elwood lectured last night in the First U. P. Church. Mr. Elwood's talks are no machine essays, capable of being analyzed by rule of pen. He follows no fixed plan, and runs the gamut from light to dark, from joy to sorrow, from laughter to tears, playing with the emotions of his auditors as musicians would upon his favorite instrument. Last night's lecture was heard by a crowded church and it is hoped that Rev. Elwood will find it within his power to give another of his good talks soon. The Times-Leavenworth Kan. A BAPTIST ELDER Restored to Health by Vinol
 "I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a red liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength and am now feeling unusually well." Henry Cunningham, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N. C.
 Vinol is not a patent medicine—but a preparation composed of the medicinal elements of cods' livers, combined with a tonic iron and wine. Vinol creates a hearty appetite, tones up the organs of digestion and makes rich, red blood. In this natural manner, Vinol creates strength for the run-down, overworked and debilitated, and for delicate children and old people. For chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis Vinol is unexcelled.
 All such persons in this vicinity are asked to try Vinol on our offer to refund their money if it fails to give satisfaction.

The Doctor's First Question
 "How are your bowels?" This is generally the first question the doctor asks. He knows what a sluggish liver means. He knows what a long list of distressing complaints result from constipation. He knows that headaches, bilious attacks, indigestion, impure blood, and general debility are often promptly relieved by a good liver pill. We wish you would talk with your own doctor about this subject. Ask him at the same time if he approves of Ayer's Pills. Do as he says.

 The services were in charge by Rev. W. E. Putt, assisted by Dr. W. R. McChesney and Rev. Mills J. Taylor. Mr. L. H. Sullenberger sang the deceased's favorite hymn "Unanswered Yet."
 Rev. Putt used as his theme, "Truly this is a grief and I must bear it." His address was touching throughout and not only furnished cheer and consolation to the grief-stricken family but a lesson to every individual as well.
 The M. E. Brotherhood was present in a body. The deceased was one of the charter members of this organization and was active in its success.
 The pallbearers were: Woodbridge Ustick, G. A. Shroeder, George Stewart, Reid Owens, Andrew Winter and Elmer Owens. Burial took place north of town.
 The floral offerings were beautiful and came from his associates. The Brotherhood and K. of P. emblems, Epworth League; a lyre from the Busy Bee Company; Directors of Office employees, E. N. Tarbox, G. M. Stormont, W. A. Spencer, G. B. Satterfield, Mae Tarbox, Lillie Lidenhart, Neptune Fire company; College boys.
 There were many pieces from individuals: A. L. Taylor and family of Mt. Sterling, O.; Messrs. Prevention of Blindness
 (By the Ohio Commission for the Blind.)
 1. From the standpoint of money:
 a. The blind man's education costs more than that of a man who can see for special schooling, special implements and devices, or other necessary aids.
 b. He must pay expenses for two, if he travels with a guide, beside the guide's remuneration.
 c. He must employ a reader for his correspondence, his daily news, music and books, and for his music, if he is a musician; for everything, in fact, in which sight is indispensable.
 2. From the standpoint of limitations:
 a. He must of necessity obtain a large part of his knowledge at second hand, through others; consequently it may be largely colored by their convictions and point of view.
 b. The lines of education, or life-work open even theoretically to the blind man are limited and of those that are possible the number practically available is even more limited; since but few of the many things which the blind can achieve well, can be done quickly enough to be remunerative. For instance, a clever man, able but for his blindness, to substitute a musician, or any other qualification depending upon vision with its sense of form and color.
 Help us to stop all unnecessary blindnesses.

Prevention of Blindness
 (By the Ohio Commission for the Blind.)
 For the sake of the state, on which falls heavily the burden of blindness; for the sake of the families of the unfortunate sightless people, most of all for the sake of those who have lost a priceless possession, it is the duty of every citizen to secure the prevention of all unnecessary blindnesses.
 In infancy the normal child is led by the sight of the objects about him, the glancing smile, the mother's smile, to express himself, to move, to learn to creep, to stand, to walk; but the blind infant remains passive. In childhood, still, he is passive. The sight of earth, sky and water, of the change and life of everything, can not call out his enterprise. Some one must make these lost incentives.
 At school age, the door of-door world opens to the eyes of the child, but from the blind boy it is shut.
 In manhood, the blind man is handicapped and his life is a struggle. The prevention of blindness is a social duty, and one of the most important duties of the citizen. The blind man rarely has the freedom of initiative that would enable him to respond.

Prevention of Blindness
 (By the Ohio Commission for the Blind.)
 It is the purpose of the Ohio Commission for the Blind to call public attention to the fact that more than one-third of all blindness among children is readily preventable if the danger is recognized, and thus arouse a sentiment that will rid the commonwealth of the burden of this needless loss.
 IS IT ANY BUSINESS OF MINE?
 When one reads that blindness is preventable in more than one-third of the cases occurring in childhood, he is pretty sure to exclaim, "Isn't that a pity! It ought to be stopped!" But he should ask himself "Is it any business of mine?" Yes, it is the business of every citizen of the state, because blindness is costing the state on a very conservative basis of calculation $400,000 a year. Only cruel selfish interests would forbid such expenditures, for the public very generously approve and applaud every effort to ameliorate the condition of the blind among us. But let it be known that a sum amounting to more than $35,000 annually could be saved to the state if only one preventable cause of blindness were understood and the necessary precautions taken; and it would certainly seem to be some "business of mine" to every citizen.

Prevention of Blindness
 A movement almost nation wide is now on to secure to as great degree as possible the prevention of unnecessary blindness. Ohio is interested in this movement and through the Ohio Commission for the Blind is seeking to influence public opinion to such extent as to make impossible the neglect which renders many infants blind. A disease, known as "baby's sore eyes," appears at birth, or within a short time thereafter, which is fatal to the sight if neglected, but which can be easily cured if proper precautions are taken. Send to the Ohio Commission for the Blind, Columbus, for circulars of information.
 We want YOU to help us to prevent blindness as far as possible. The State is spending the few dollars necessary to put these facts before you, and calls on you to help. For every dollar used for prevention eight thousand times as much is saved in cutting off the cost of education and maintenance of one who may become a dependent.

Heart Troubles
 The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. It often happens that a person is born with a weak heart. Then again disease, fevers, over-exertion, anxiety, nervousness, rheumatism, etc. weaken the heart. The result is shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in the heart, or in some of the nerves of the chest or abdomen. The heart should be strengthened with a tonic, and for this nothing equals Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.
 "I had Ladroppe last fall as I thought in a mild form. I was weak, tired feeling, and short of breath; could hardly go about and a good deal of the time sort of an asthma, breathing and extremely nervous. I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and now I feel so much better in every way. I am so thankful that I began taking this medicine, and shall not hesitate to tell others how much good it has done me."

NISHAWAKA FOLDING CARTON CO., Nishawaka, Ind.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Selection of Mutton.

Mutton when good has the lean more inclined to a dark than a bright red. The grain is fine, and the fat is white. Small boned and short legged mutton is best eating. Pale colored and lean mutton is inferior meat. That which is clammy to the touch is unwholesome, probably diseased.

Lamb is best when ten or twelve weeks old. The whole lamb at that age should not exceed forty pounds. When more mature it lacks the delicacy of young flesh and has not yet acquired the ripe flavor of prime mutton. Lamb should be small and fat. The leg joints being stiff and the vein in the neck blue denote freshness. The kidney should be small and the fat white and firm.

Beef Stews.

Get two pounds of round steak about one inch thick and pound out flat then cut into strips two inches thick and six inches long. Make a dressing of stale bread, one egg, one onion, a small piece of butter, sage, salt and pepper to taste. Spread this dressing on strips of meat, roll up and pin each of the ends with toothpicks so as to hold them together firmly, so they will look like little roasts. Put butter and lard in a kettle and brown nicely on both sides, then add water enough to cover. Simmer for one hour and a half. Enough dressing will boil out to make a nice brown gravy.

Preserved Whole Gooseberries.

Make a strong sirup, two pounds of sugar to a pint of water. Pierce gooseberries in several places and put them in the sirup, then take them from the range and let the gooseberries remain in the sirup all night. In the morning reheat, stopping just short of boiling point, again letting berries stand overnight in sirup. While still cold place them in bottles and pour the sirup over them. Place bottles in water. Should the berries seem to be cracking before the water boils remove the bottles at once and seal; otherwise let stand until water is at boiling point.

Improved Curling Iron.

The device for making curls and puffs heretofore consisted of a single curling iron, which has grooves along its length large enough to receive one side of a double wire hook, or much the same shape as a safety pin. The hair is curled around the cylinder and over one end of the hook.

PIN HOLDS CURL SECURE.

and when the curl or puff is made the hook is fastened at the free end, which is constructed to permit fastening, and the puff is held together until it can be pinned in place on the head. The device can also be used in curling natural hair, and the hook will hold the curl in shape until that shape is well set. The chief annoyance in rolling false curls is experienced in their coming unrolled before adjusted.

Codfish and Potato Hash.

Codfish in quantity to suit your taste; hashed potatoes well seasoned. Pick the codfish and soak in water overnight. Chop it fine with the potatoes in the proportion of one-fourth fish and three-fourths potatoes. Cut two large slices of fat salt pork into dice and fry crisp. Mix the cracklings of the pork, the potatoes and codfish in the skillet and heat until browned lightly. Turn and brown the other side. Serve with mustard.

Bacon With Bermuda Onions.

Peel a sufficient number of medium sized Bermuda onions, drop into salted boiling water and stew gently until tender, but not broken. Lift out of the water and stand upright in a buttered baking dish. On the top of each onion lay a very thin slice of breakfast bacon and sprinkle it with paprika. Stand in a hot oven until the bacon is cooked and the onions nicely browned.

Peppers In Brine.

Green peppers may be put away for winter use in the same way as other green vegetables. Wipe them well and place in large stone jars and cover with sufficient brine strong enough to float an egg. Put on top of them a wooden cover smaller than the jar and a weight on top to keep the peppers under the brine, or they may be canned or put in brine in glass jars.

Southern Stew.

Cut two pounds of veal in small pieces. Slice thin half a pound of salt pork. Add four quarts of water and three tablespoons of vinegar and boil one hour. Slice thoroughly, then add one cupped onion and two turnips chopped. Season well with pepper. Then put all into a baking pan and place in the oven and let stew for two hours.

THE SQUID'S HUES.

Why the Creators is Able to Change Its Color.

One of the most interesting of the discoveries of science is the secret of the means whereby certain animals change color. The most familiar and celebrated example in this line is the lizard called the chameleon, but there are many other creatures both on land and in the sea that possess a similar power. Noteworthy among them is the common squid. If a specimen of this interesting kind of mollusk, fresh out of water, be laid on a table and watched, its hues will change so constantly that literal waves of color seem to be passing over it from moment to moment. That this happens in response to impulses conveyed through the nervous system of the animal is manifest, a mere tapping with a finger on the table causing a rush of the color waves described.

The secret lies in the fact that immediately beneath the skin of the squid is a sort of network of small channels, in which are frequent larger spaces occupied by pigment cells. These cells are under direct control of the nervous system, which causes them to contract or expand. When they contract the color disappears, which is what happens when the squid dies, for then it turns dead white, although its normal hue in life is reddish brown.

Even in death, however, the pigment cells beneath the skin of the squid may be distinguished by the eye as minute specks. In life these specks expand to the size of a big pinhead and run together, thus producing the brown tint. It is substantially the same phenomenon that is accountable for the rapid changes in color observed in the chameleon, in many fishes and in various other creatures—changes which are evidently for the purpose of disguise, enabling the animal to escape observation by assuming a likeness to its surroundings. Thus the common sole imitates with its coloration whatever kind of bottom it may be resting upon, whether pebbles, sand or what not.

The pigment cells referred to are called "chromatophores," and sometimes they contain two or more different kinds of pigments, some of which disappear, while others persist, the result being that, as in the case of the chameleon, a considerable range of colors may be displayed.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Fair Exchange. At a gathering of medical men one of the number was a noted practitioner who is almost as well known for his shabby attire as he is for his skill as a physician.

When the gathering was about to disperse the doctor in question could not find his hat. Instead, to his great surprise, he found a nice new glossy silk hat, which happened to fit him as though made to his order. When he got home he exhibited his headpiece with considerable pride.

The next day, however, a fellow doctor turned up to claim the hat. "Permit me, my dear doctor," said the second medical man, "to apologize for my little trick, which grew out of the fact that yesterday you carried an umbrella, while I had none. It occurred to me that, while my new silk hat would be ruined by the rain, yours would not. Accordingly I took the liberty of leaving mine in place of yours. Many thanks."—Harper's Weekly.

Not Like a Tax Receipt.

Accustomed to have the political boss of his ward provide him with a tax receipt, an organization follower went to the same boss with a demand for a favor. "Will you get me a marriage license?" he asked. "That I can't do," explained the politician, "because you have to appear in person when you get a marriage license." This answer to the political worker seemed evasive, and he demanded to know: "How is it that you can get the tax receipt every time there is a collection? The marriage license seems just the same." To this further inquiry the politician gave a long explanation, but it was not quite satisfactory to the humble worker in the cause of organization.—Pittsburgh Record.

Prepared. "Got any forty league boots?" "Sure thing," replied the enterprising stockkeeper, "and it is lucky you called. This is bargain day, and they are marked down to thirty-nine."

Suggestion. To find out which was really there and learn which tale was phony we might consult a polar bear and get his testimony. Perhaps the bear would write a book On Bears and on Dr. Cook.

Decorated the Town. "I am predicting that Harry will make his mark."

"He has done so already."

"Has he?"

"Yes, with red paint."

Quite Feminine. "The typewriter is almost human, isn't it?"

"Yes, you have to buy it a new ribbon every once in a while to keep it in good humor."

Vicious. "She called you a dog."

"I wish I were."

"How absurd. Why?"

"I know to whom I'd give hydrophobia."

Often the Gace. "He is such a handy man."

"He had noticed him purring about."

"He can make anything."

"Anything but a living."

Too Straining. "Why not have some sense?"

"Sense?"

"Yes."

Absent Treatment Needed. "Do you really like to work?"

"Indeed I do."

"Goodness! Can't you take some thing for it?"

Chicken Fritters. Sift a cupful of flour, melt a tablespoonful of butter in a small cupful of warm water and pour by degrees on the flour, salt to taste, beat well and add last the stiffly beaten white of one egg. Mix cold chicken, season with salt, paprika, a little chopped parsley and a tiny bit of onion. To a cupful of chicken add a small half cupful of thick white sauce. Mold into small balls, dip each in the batter and drop from the spoon into very hot fat. Drain on brown paper in the oven. Arrange on a napkin and garnish with lemon and parsley.—Circle Magazine.

—HOUSE FOR RENT: Inquire
of O. L. Smith at the Exchange Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Baker have issued invitations to about 150 of their friends for this Friday evening

Mrs. Estella Holt of South Solon has been visiting at the home of Mr.
W. L. Clemans.

Mrs. J. G. McCorkell visited Mr.
Harry Luff and family of London
the first of the week.

About fifty of the High School Pupils enjoyed a hayride to the home of Miss. Dona Burns Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCampbell entertained about thirty relatives of the family at dinner Thanksgiving.

with Mr. Charles Gilbert and wife of South Charleston.

Mr. T. C. Wolford returned from Tribuna Ill. several days ago where he was called to accept a position with the Illinois Experimental Station situated at that place. While Mr. Wolford was offered the position as manager he has not yet decided to accept the same, having just recently purchased a farm south of town.

PLANNED SURPRISE WEDDING.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Nagley of this place, were taken by surprise by the announcement of his marriage. Thanksgiving day when he was married in marriage to Miss Margaret Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gordon of Gladstone.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank Gordon in the presence of only a few friends and relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Nagley of this place were the guests of the bride and groom. The wedding was simple and had been secretly planned, much to the surprise of their many friends.

After the ceremony the bride and groom were driven to South Solon
where they took a drive for Lake View, Ohio, where they will be the guest of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Carr for a few days.

The bride has been teaching school in the 33rd district for three years and is a very popular young lady. Mr. Nagley is a member of the firm of Nagley Bros. of this place and is one of Cedarville's most progressive business men. The happy couple will go to house keeping here, where they will receive the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends.

A CARD.

We wish to thank each and every one who has so sympathetically assisted us in our bereavement. We feel, had we chosen the words used to comfort us during the public service, that we could not have added to or altered one. Especially do we wish to thank Revs. Fatt and Taylor, Rev. McChesney and Mr. Sullenger for the kind and thoughtful manner in which they assisted,
the Brotherhood for the sweet sentiments embodied in their resolutions, the choir for the feeling of peace and rest that their selections gave.

We feel that everything was done in the kindest way possible, at the home; the church and the grave,
and we appreciate it all deeply.
The sympathy so expressed by Roy's friends, floral offerings,
cards and words of sympathy,
coming from such widely scattered points, has cheered us much.

MORNING CHORES.

The Early Job That Farmer Jedediah
Had on Hand.

Although he was pretty glad to take in summer boarders and thus make capital of his small garden produce and his wife's excellent cooking, Jedediah Hubbard always made a great point of never letting his guests get in ahead of him in any way.

"City folks that have been around a little think they know it all from A to Z," he used to say. "They need somebody to take 'em down a peg or two once in awhile."

One morning while he was chewing a long spear of grass near the wood yard he was surprised to see a newly arrived boarder, fully dressed, coming toward him. This propensity of "city fellows" to rise at sunup was quite irregular.

"Good morning!" exclaimed the newcomer in a lusty tone.

"Morning!" responded the old man,
as if uncertain just what to expect.

"Well, I suppose you have to get up early to see that the haycocks are properly, don't you?" said the city man, with an air of familiar familiarity which Jedediah was not slow to resist.

"Well, no," he drawled, "not exactly that. I was just out untying some of the knots in the cord wood."

"Too Fast For Him."

At the University of Missouri is the first working school of journalism in the world. As practical laboratory work is issued, Walter Williams, its dean, tells of the vicissitudes he encounters in turning laymen into journalists. A student was sent in haste to cover a railroad wreck at a town a few miles away. It was almost time for the daily to go to press, and still no word had been received from the young man on the assignment. In desperation Dean Williams telegraphed, asking why the story was not being coming. The reply was:
"Too much excitement. Wait till things quiet down."—Lippincott's.
